

A is for Apple. B is for Banana. C is for Compost.

Did you know that 15% of what is in Franklin County landfills could have been composted?

What is Kids That Compost?

Kids That Compost (KTC) is a grass roots collective of kids, advocates, schools and service providers working to divert food waste away from landfills by building an innovative, high impact, scalable approach to composting. Already in 26 Ohio communities, we are growing with support from neighbors like you.

Teachers save when they sign up!

We could not make such an incredible impact without your support and enthusiasm for educating our young people regarding environmental and social issues. To thank you for inspiring our kids, KTC is offering a reduced rate for teachers of $15/month. You can help us make a difference, one bucket at a time.

How it works.

Visit KidsThatCompost.org and sign up for our curbside pickup service. Use code TEACH20 at checkout to receive $5 off your subscription. We deliver you a KTC compost bucket, you add your food scraps and other compostable waste to your bucket, then we pick up and compost the contents of your bucket every week. Additional useful information can be found on our website, including the DOs and DONTs of composting and our Compost Quiz.

Education and involvement is key to our success and we truly appreciate your participation and advocacy.
